Previous studies have shown that short-term exposure to eplerenone did not affect serum calcium concentration in dogs. However, no studies have evaluated the effect of long-term replacement of mineralocorticoids on serum calcium concentrations. To determine if calcium regulating hormones altered serum calcium concentrations in dogs with mineralocorticoid deficiency, six normal Beagles were given eplerenone (1 mg/kg of body weight PO q24h) or vehicle for 3 weeks. Calcium regulating hormones were measured by chemiluminescence assays. Eplerenone treatment resulted in a statistically significant decrease in plasma aldosterone concentrations. There was no effect of eplerenone on serum calcium, calcitonin, or 1,25 dihydroxyvitamin D concentrations. Serum PTH concentrations were decreased, but the decrease was not statistically significant. Serum magnesium concentrations were slightly decreased. The results of this study indicate that eplerenone treatment of dogs with mineralocorticoid deficiency does not acutely affect serum calcium concentrations.Friday, August 31, 2017 As a free trial offer, August for Educators is now available. he visuals in the game look good since the background is taken from he World of Warcraft scenery, but the main draw from this movie is he wit and charm Robert Downey Jr. brings to the character of Iron , he has a very good screen presence. Like other movies of the erhero universe, there is a bit of exposition in the film but by far most is pertinent to the state of the world in which he finds himself. IMO I Iron Man better than Spiderman himself and it is now one of the all
