About The Game Graphics ----> Up on the screen is what you can see of the game. On the left it is a scale giving you the level of difficulty of the upcoming level. The right side of the screen is where you start each level. On the top are the power ups and on the bottom the abilities you have. If you die you get a new try. That's the only thing I can think of to explain the graphics. Controls ----> There are no controls, you use the mouse. Game Art ----> Making the game was fun. The logo was made by me. Music ----> The main game soundtrack is made by FireMonk. You can download it from his website. Tools ----> The game is made in Flash. Platforms ----> OSX, Windows and Linux Additional Info ----> The bookmarks are there so you know where you are in the game. That's all I can think of. Signup for updates on the website: Full Version (Free!) Youtube page: Feel free to comment! A: Enemies You'll spawn enemies when you jump, and you'll be given 4 ability points to block enemies. If you get hit while using your ability, they will slow you down, and they will start gaining damage when you are out of the ability point column. Each ability point costs 3 points to use. Power ups You get power ups after each level, and they reset after each level. The power ups you get after each level can be found in the the levels at the top of the current level. Trick Upgrades You get trick upgrades for certain items, and they cost 3 points to use. These trick upgrades add a short animation to your block item (you can still block, but it's a new animation). Movements You can move two squares up and two squares right. Blocks You can block one square, and you can block four squares by using your ability points. As for additional tips, while you're in the inventory you can click on a power up to see

Fellow student, today I will provide you a 30 second video demonstration of Traitor, a parody of a Game Boy Camera game. If you aren't familiar with Game Boy Camera, they're this very cool thing where you can play Game Boy games online (or if you have a Game Boy Advance, you can also play Game Boy Advance games online). You can play as many games as you want, you can use whatever characters you want (Super Mario, Mega Man, Sonic, etc.), you can play as your favorite gaming console (NES, SNES, Mega Drive, etc.). It's a great thing to play if you're a huge fan of Nintendo or you just like having fun. What is Traitor? Traitor is a parody of the Game Boy Camera game. You play as a Subsidized Game Boy Camera Camera. You have 10 minutes to save the world or the Planet. In order to save the world you must find a kid called Geek. You play as a Subsidized Game Boy Camera by finding cool adventures. So far you have saved the child from the demon and found the bathroom. Help Geek find the next cool adventure! Subscribe to our channel to stay up to date on the latest news! Follow us: Twitter: Site: [Maxx] Here's the first video I did with the controller. ^-^ This is a parody of the Game Boy Camera games, where you play as a picture or character and you're only allowed a certain amount of time to save the world. But if you mess up and it's your last chance, it will cost you two pictures. (I'm rambling, haha) [Maxx] Here's the first video I did with the controller. ^-^ This is a parody of the Game Boy Camera games, where you play as a picture or character and you're only allowed a certain amount of time to save the world. What's new in UPH!:

An Odd Horizons Story One of the things that drew me to Rash, is when I found out that I could have an Old Friend, from a time that I wasn't even around for, make an appearance, something that happens to me quite often now because it's getting harder and harder to remember things and it's always good to have someone there to remind you of the good times. And it happens to be the same delightful Liza not just as two persons, but as one, so it's good to have a 'real person' instead of just a name on a list. So to take us back to the time when Arath was a youngster in a school where the classes were in alphabetical order by first name, and as the name I find first on the list was Ehr's the effortless springing of friends with Arath almost annoyed me then. No. But that was when I was the one who was to be annoyed, not Arath who would have been doing everyone a favour by standing quietly and taking the praises for what they themselves had done. Today I was just at the necessary place at the right time when the setting was perfect, but the happens that make up this story are as unlikely as they were inevitable and all happy, so before we know it, the holidays will be here and I'll be up for a flit, haven't done a flit for a long time, so this came about as a good change, but doesn't mean I'll leave this side of the seas to come back here every holiday! Oh sure it's great to be on the islands and the adults have no duties, as long as someone will be there, someone who enjoys a retreat in beautiful surroundings for a few weeks or months, we can be there more than people who might prefer to be stuck at home. Besides, the kids are all taken care of by Auntie Gaga, the best auntie a child could hope for. She takes them in the mornings, plays with them in the afternoons and takes them out in the evenings. The bosses who work opposite each other, are the perfect grandmothers, no nannies needed! An inmate's job! There was a moment when I was watching them one fine afternoon, as they came across the road and waved and shouted, something that can be heard for many blocks; and

I couldn't help but smile when I saw one of the boys used his noter and wrote his name
